Best Practice 1

1. Title of the Practice:

Teaching Bioethics to the MBBS students.

2. Objectives of the Practice:

- i) To identify ethical aspects related to medical practice and research.
- ii) To identify the likely problems associated with not following ethical medical practice and research.
- iii) To make decisions under the given circumstances based on acceptable moral concepts and traditional practice.
- iv) To provide rational justification for ethical decisions
- v) To apply the ethical principles of the Universal Declaration of Bioethics and Human Rights.

3. The Context:

In the last few years, there were increased cases of medical negligence allegations. It was observed that doctor's conduct is one of the reasons for this increased cases. The present doctors are losing the respect and dignity from the society compared to the earlier practitioners. Hence, it is essential to teach the budding doctors about the ethical issues involved with various situations involved with patient interactions, and the behavioural attitude and method of communication in these situations.

Challenges: Lack of syllabus in the medical UG and PG curriculum on addressing these ethical issues.

4. The Practice:

Medical Council of India in its proposed curriculum for Medical UG & PG studies (Regulations on Graduate Medical Education, 2012) gave a lot of emphasis on "Professional development including ethics". With the inception of South India Unit of UNESCO Chair in Bioethics at Father Muller Medical College in 2012, Bioethics syllabus was designed under UNESCO Bioethics Chair for medical UG students.

Limitations:

- Lack of trained teachers to teach on bioethics.
- Implementation of the bioethics syllabus in the existing medical UG curriculum.

5. Evidence of Success:

The students expressed that topics discussed during Bio-ethics classes created awareness about various ethical issues related to the practice of medicine. They also felt that this knowledge will be of great help during their clinical postings when they deal with the patients.

A short term success would be evaluation of students on the subject 'bioethics' and a long term success would be reduced litigations on the medical practitioners.

6. Problems encountered and resources required:

- Sensitization of the University and faculty members about the importance of teaching bioethics to medical students.
- Motivating the teachers to attend the training programmes and involve them in bioethics teaching along with their regular works.
- Time schedule and shortage of faculty for evaluation.
- The students are not serious about attending the bioethics classes and during assessment since it is not a part of University curriculum.

Best Practice 2

1. Title of the Practice

Group counseling for MBBS students.

2. Objectives of the Practice

- a) To address issues pertaining to academic and examination stress.
- b) To assess and address issues related to inter-personal relationships.
- c) To address issues related to substance abuse if any.
- d) To address issues pertaining to hostel life and separation from parents.
- e) To improve motivation to study and excel in professional field.

3. The Context

Group Counseling for MBBS Students is a challenging task to design and implement. First of all the planning of course needs to be meticulous in order to correctly determine the problem areas to be addressed. Sometimes a screening questionnaire may be required to tap the perceived problems in students. Once the problem questions are formulated the target members need to be selected from the entire population of students. Then comes the conduct of the session. The environment needs to be comfortable and away from the person whom the students deem as authority figures. This will enable relaxed manner of relating and open interaction. In the end, a feedback must be taken to actually assess the use of such a program.

4. The Practice

This practice is new for our institute. It has given a platform for our students to interact more freely with a neutral member. It helps in higher education as management of stress is instrumental in professional and personal advancement. The session was conducted meticulously. The students were benefited and have given a very positive feedback.

5. Evidence of Success

The feedback from students was excellent. They felt that the entire targets given were addressed. They felt comfortable and at ease with the presenter. The session was informed and well conducted. They were allowed to speak truly and ask questions. They were given a platform to contribute towards the session. The students mentioned the need for future sessions akin to this. The follow up individual counseling sessions was also a hit.

6. Problems Encountered and Resources Required

The unfamiliarity of the facilitator as the facilitator was not from the institution. However this was circumvented to the facilitator making everyone at care. There was no formal screening tool being used. This can be kept in mind for future sessions. Next was the inaccessibility of the facilitator for future reference. This is an unexpected error which could not have been foreseen at the time of conduct and session.

7. Notes (Optional)

Group Counseling for MBBS Students is both relevant and necessary. The academic and personal difficulties of a Student are hardly addressed during their MBBS tenure. Giving them a platform to ventilate is known to reduce stress and improve overall performance.
